

Literacy Strategies that Work

reveals that academic success is achieved by building strong relationships between adults and students. The students, teachers, administrators, and community members, in the schools featured, each share a passion for the written word and for learning.

space for additional text

This video was produced by The Center on Disabilities Studies, University of Hawaii at Manoa in partnership with the Department of Education, State of Hawaii.

Funded by: SIG LOGO

Office of Special Education Programs
State Improvement Grant #11323A99018
Department of Education, State of Hawaii

Video Producers
Suzanne Langford
Shannon Simonelli
Video Production
Sara Banks

Literacy Strategies that Work

